

Call for Papers

Journal of Race, Ethnicity and the City

Editors: Yasminah Beebeejaun and Ali Modarres

Submission Deadline: January 15, 2020

We are delighted to announce that the Journal of Race, Ethnicity and the City (JRE), a new journal sponsored by the Urban Affairs Association, is ready to accept manuscripts for review. The journal will:

- Serve as an outlet for ground-breaking theoretical and empirical approaches that explore race, ethnicity, identity and social justice;
- Examine the complex relations between race, ethnicity and other vectors of identity, including gender, class, religion and sexuality;
- Explore the influence of these complexities in shaping the social, economic, political, environmental, and cultural dimensions of urban spaces;
- Deconstruct the role of colonial and post-colonial practices and discourses on race and ethnicity in shaping the urban spaces of everyday life within a global context;
- Expand the global discourse on race, ethnicity and other vectors of identity;
- Promote interdisciplinary and comparative insights into race and ethnicity.

We are particularly interested in groundbreaking theoretical, empirical and engaged scholarship manuscripts that meet the aims and scopes of the journal and set the tone for future issues of JRE. It is our intention to have all manuscripts reviewed within a reasonable timeframe, allowing authors to receive timely comments and suggestions from reviewers. JRE uses a double-blind review process and asks all authors and reviewers to avoid self-recognizing information within their manuscripts.

Our goal is to publish the first issue of JRE by Spring of 2020. Taylor and Francis will treat this issue as open-source, making all manuscripts available online.

To be considered for the first issue(s), the full manuscript should be submitted by January 15, 2020. To begin the manuscript submission process, click here.
